Excerpt from Arithmetic: Practically Applied, for Advanced Pupils, and for Private Reference, Designed as a Sequel to Any of the Ordinary Text-Books on the Subject The appearance of my name on the title page of this Arithmetic, requires me to state the extent of my connection with its authorship, and of my responsibility for its execution. Believing the idea of the work to be original, I will attempt its elucidation. In seeking for the elements or materials of its questions, it proposes to take a survey of all the vocations of life, of all the facts of knowledge, and of all the truths of science, and to make a selection from each department of whatever may be most interesting and valuable. It does not confine itself to the playthings of the nursery, or to the commodities of the market place, and to the money they will cost, or make, or lose. On the contrary, the present work proposes to carry the student over the wide expanse of domestic and social employments; to introduce him to the various...
